

Voting Matters

We vote on things every day by raising hands, writing on a piece of paper, or even saying our choice out loud. Some people think that voting is not important, but they forget that voting is one way to share what we think and help make daily decisions.

Answer the questions using the pictograph below.

Ms. Case's class got to vote on what activity to do today. She put the votes on a pictograph to show the activity that won.

1. How many kids voted? _____
2. How many kids voted for art? _____
3. How many kids voted for music? _____
4. How many kids voted for games? _____
5. How many kids voted for a movie? _____
6. How many kids voted to read? _____
7. What activity had the most votes? _____

Voting is important because it allows us to share our thoughts. At home, take a vote on what you would like to eat for dinner and what book to read together with your family.
