

Arizona Courts

The judicial branch is made up of courts. There are over 200 courthouses in Arizona. Some are state run and some are run by the federal government. The different types of state courts are Municipal, Justice, Superior, Appellate, and Supreme. Courts help solve problems and enforce laws.

Using the letters C-O-U-R-T-S, complete the Sudoku puzzle below.

C				O
	S		C
		U		R	C
T
				T
O		S			U

Why do you think it is important to have different types of courts and not just one single court?
